Nipponese South Pacific Bastion Is High On List of Suicide Assignments for Mikado's Pilots

AIRDRONE BLOWN UP

Allied Headquarters in the southwest Pacific, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Allied airmen have shot down 13 Japanese planes over Rabaul, New Britain, making it 111 enemy aircraft reported destroyed there so far this month and adding this Nipponese South Pacific bastion high on the list of suicide assignments for the Mikado's pilots.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communiqué today said Mitchell heavy bombers and Liberator heavy fighters covered more than 10 planes struck Lakumai Air base at midday Sunday with 10 tons of bombs. The planes were from Adm. William F. Halsey's bases in the Solomon Islands. It was the seventh raid on Rabaul since Feb. 1 and the fifth on Kumai field. One pilot committed suicide, "that runway is in a hell of a mess."

Airdrome repair shops and revetments were blown up or set on fire, and aside from the 13 enemy planes positively accounted for, attackers chalked up 10 probable. Damage to Allied craft was minor, the communiqué said.

The 111 Japanese aircraft reported destroyed at Rabaul in February communications included 19 wrecked on the ground. There also were 57 probable. The Allies for the period was 36 planes. The rate of destruction of enemy planes here thus far in February promises to at least equal January toll, figured on the basis of communications reports. In more than 400 Japanese aircraft were destroyed and probably 132 more against an Allied loss of at least 78, for the communiqué sometimes reported our losses as light or moderate, but no exact figure. This made Rabaul the hottest target in the Pacific aerial war, for of 866 Japanese aircraft destroyed or probably destroyed in southwest, south and central Pacific in January and the 119 enemy planes last, nearly half the Japanese planes and more than half the Allied craft were checked off at Rabaul.

Two Sisters Die In Blaze In Cottage

Dover, N. J., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Two sisters died from smoke and a brother was overcome when a fire swept a little company-owned cottage in an iron mine village near here yesterday as their parents were away at work on jobs.

Carol Popovich, 5, and Sonya, 8, were suffocated. Their brother, 8, was reported in fair condition today at Dover General hospital.

The children's mother found the fire in flames when she returned from her job in a Dover box plant. Police Chief David Jones said the father had been about an hour before to start on the second shift at the Oak Iron Mine, where war planes had been bombed.

SENSE COUNCIL MAY ENFORCE BLACKOUTS

Pittsburgh, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Atty. General James H. Duff today said that the State Defense Council has authority to enforce blackouts if a local council fails to hold them.

Opinion was asked by executive director Dr. Ralph Cooper today that the State Defense Council announced it would participate in blackout tests. The State Council called attention to the fact that "Wynessboro" had indicated that it will continue in future drills under the Army schedule of one practice three months" but added the State Council, "has significance because of its general state application."

INSTALLATION CENTERS ARE RAID TARGETS

U. S. Marauders Pound German "Atlantic Wall" for Third Time In Little Over 24 Hours

NUMBER SHOT DOWN

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

London, Feb. 9.—(AP)—U. S. Marauders roared back to northern France to pound German "Atlantic wall" installations today for the third time in little more than 24 hours along with RAF medium, light, and fighter-bombers.

The daylight formations swung out after RAF night bombers struck objectives in Germany and France, including the Rhine aircraft engine factory at Limoges, without loss.

British Bombers, Mitchells, Mosquitos, Typhoons and Hurricanes joined in the assault on Nazi installations in northern France which were attacked twice by Marauders yesterday, and have been bombed almost daily for two months. Fighters escorted the bombers.

The renewed pounding followed daylight attacks upon the continent yesterday, highlighted by a heavy Flying Fortress blow upon Frankfurt.

Observers on the English coast said the day began exactly like yesterday, with various types of bombers and fighters streaming toward northern France in the early morning haze.

Some big bombers were observed returning later from the direction of Boulogne and Calais as other formations were setting out. Yesterday's Flying Fortress attack on Frankfurt was the third such assault on that city in 11 days.

A communiqué said 19 German planes were downed during the Frankfurt operation. American fighters accounting for 16 while the others fell to the bombers. Two other Nazi planes were destroyed by RAF Typhoons over Brittany.

Allied losses for the day were 12 heavy bombers, one medium bomber, one light bomber, two fighter-bombers and nine fighters, the communiqué said.

James Given Superior Court Appointment

Harrisburg, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Former Governor Arthur H. James returned today to the State Superior Court he left in 1939 to become Pennsylvania's chief executive and at the same time was slated as the Republican organization candidate for the full 10-year term in the April primary.

Governor Martin named his predecessor to the $18,000 a year post yesterday to fill out the unexpired term of Judge Joseph Stadfield, of Pittsburgh, who died several months ago.

James' return to public office came a little more than a year after he turned over the governorship to Martin in 1943. He was first elected to the superior court in 1932 but relinquished the office immediately before taking his oath of governor in 1939, when he succeeded former Governor George H. Earle, a democrat.

James, who is 60 and has been practicing law in his home town of Plymouth, Luzerne county, since he left the governor's office, declared there last night "I will be proud to serve the people of Pennsylvania in the superior court."

Slated with him by the organization for the other superior court place on the primary ballot was Judge J. Frank J. Graff, of Armstrong county, who will seek the seat now held by Judge Chester N. Rhodes, Monroe county, a democrat.

Political Door Sufficiently Ajar For Fourth Term Draft

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Washington, Feb. 9.—(AP)—President Roosevelt left the political door sufficiently ajar today for a fourth term draft to blow through. The opening was left in his answer so a straight-to-the-point question at his regular Tuesday afternoon news conference as to whether he would "accept a fourth term nomination."

He said he had no news on that at the time. It was a stock reply which the president has used repeatedly. In fact, he called it an old killer of stories. But politicians, already fairly well agreed that the chief executive will run again, noted that it did not rule out such a possibility. Mr. Roosevelt, who awarded dance caps to reporters who asked third term questions in 1940, displayed a willingness to receive political questions yesterday. He even said he loved to have them asked. But he summed up the whole discussion at one point by saying that everyone present was confused.

Mr. Roosevelt dismissed as hoary with age a report that there might be a Democratic-Republican ticket this year with a Republican for vice president and that Mr. Roosevelt would resign at the end of the war.

Poorest Bond Sale Day Reported In Area

Pittsburgh, Feb. 9.—(AP)—In what officials of the Fourth War Loan campaign called the 19-county Ft. Pitt area's "worst day," bond sales reported today totaled only $5,500,000—far below the $13,000,000 daily quota.

Of the sales only $1,100,000 were "E" bonds against a daily quota of $2,200,000. Totals for the first 19 days of the drive.

"E" bonds only: Allegheny county $25,500,000; other 18 counties, $18,500,000; total for area, $44,000,000; amount needed to be raised in last 6 days of drive $34,500,000.

Boom On For Rayburn For Vice President

Supporters Seeking Convention Pledges for Speaker of House

CONCEDE NOMINATION

By JACK BELL

Washington, Feb. 9.—(AP)—An early move to seek convention pledges for House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas emphasized today the usual attention that politicians are directing toward the Democratic vice presidential nomination this year.

With President Roosevelt still turning aside fourth term inquiries, some practical politicians are conceding him the nomination on the first ballot and working to get their choice installed as his running mate, with an eye to the future.

One high Democratic official said there is no doubt in his mind that—if the president runs again—this year's vice presidential candidate will have a head start on everyone else in the 1948 race for the top nomination.

Besides that, this politician observed there always is a possibility that if Mr. Roosevelt is elected for a fourth term and the war ends, he might resign to head a bipartisan delegation to the peace conference.

Four years ago the late Speaker Bankhead of Alabama went into the convention with a sizeable following, but Mr. Roosevelt chose Henry Wallace for his running mate and had his way. Some of the party members think Wallace may be dumped overboard and even Wallace, who has predicted the president will run again, said in San Francisco this week he didn't know who the vice presidential candidate would be.

Soldier Vote Issue Far From Settled

Washington, Feb. 9.—(AP)—The armed services vote issue was wedged firmly between a "uniform ballot" senate and a "states rights" house today but Chairman Worley (D-Tex.) of the house elections committee voiced confidence it could be extricated.

The senate, after weeks of debate, passed a bill late yesterday providing a uniform federal ballot for service men and women, and routed it over to the house which last Friday had voted emphatically to leave the balloting machinery in the hands of the states.

Rep. Rankin (D-Miss.), leader of the house battle against a federal ballot, described the senate action as "unusual and ridiculous" and declared the house would never accept "a bottled federal ballot." The Green-Lucas bill was knocked into several different shapes by the senate.

RESISTANCE SNUFFED OUT AT KWAJALEIN

Warships and Planes Diverting Fire Power From Nerve Center of the Marshalls

AIMING TOWARD CHINA

By CHARLES H. MCMURTY

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Feb. 9.—(AP)—All organized Japanese resistance has been snuffed out at Kwajalein, world's largest atoll. Already American warships and planes are diverting fire power from that nerve center of the Marshalls to other fortified atolls.

In the midst of these developments, the overall strategists spoke hopefully of getting "our ground and air forces into China as early as possible" for the showdown against Nippon.

Highly significant, the Navy imposed a policy of semi-secrecy last night in announcing that the fleet and air arm are swinging punches elsewhere in the Marshalls. The navy did not disclose the targets, figuring that communication between those supply-severed bases and Japan are precarious and lack of the information would seriously impede the enemy.

The attacks occurred Sunday and Monday.

Meanwhile, airfields on Roi and Kwajalein islands in Kwajalein atoll are being swiftly repaired and modernized to send planes daily against Marshall bases, already largely neutralized and virtually stripped of air cover.

Based at Kwajalein's spacious lagoon, a large and as yet unchallenged fleet—not even attacked by enemy submarines—was alert against attempts to snuff out the enemy's Marshall garrisons.

Organized resistance on Kwajalein atoll has ceased and its capture and occupation have been completed," Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced yesterday. Conquest was completed eight days after Kwajalein was invaded Jan. 31.

It can now be disclosed that on Feb. 5, the commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet stood at the invasion scene—some 2,500 miles from Tokyo—and observed:

Henceforth it will be very difficult to rattle the Japanese to use the Marshalls "as bases—even for submarines."

Japanese plane strength, particularly naval air power, obviously is considerably under its peak. The enemy lacks destroyers "to escort their supply convoys or to make up an adequate battle fleet."

However, Admiral Nimitz firmly believes that Japan cannot be defeated from the sea alone and said yesterday, after returning from the Kwajalein inspection, his objective is "to get our ground and air forces into China as early as possible."

Daughter of Sain Woman Denies Charge

Chicago, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Mrs. Patricia Goodbody, 28-year-old daughter of the slain Mrs. Frank Starr Williams, describes as "completely absurd and untrue" a veteran police lieutenant's theory that her mother was accidentally killed in her Drake Hotel room Jan. 19 after they had engaged in a struggle for a revolver.

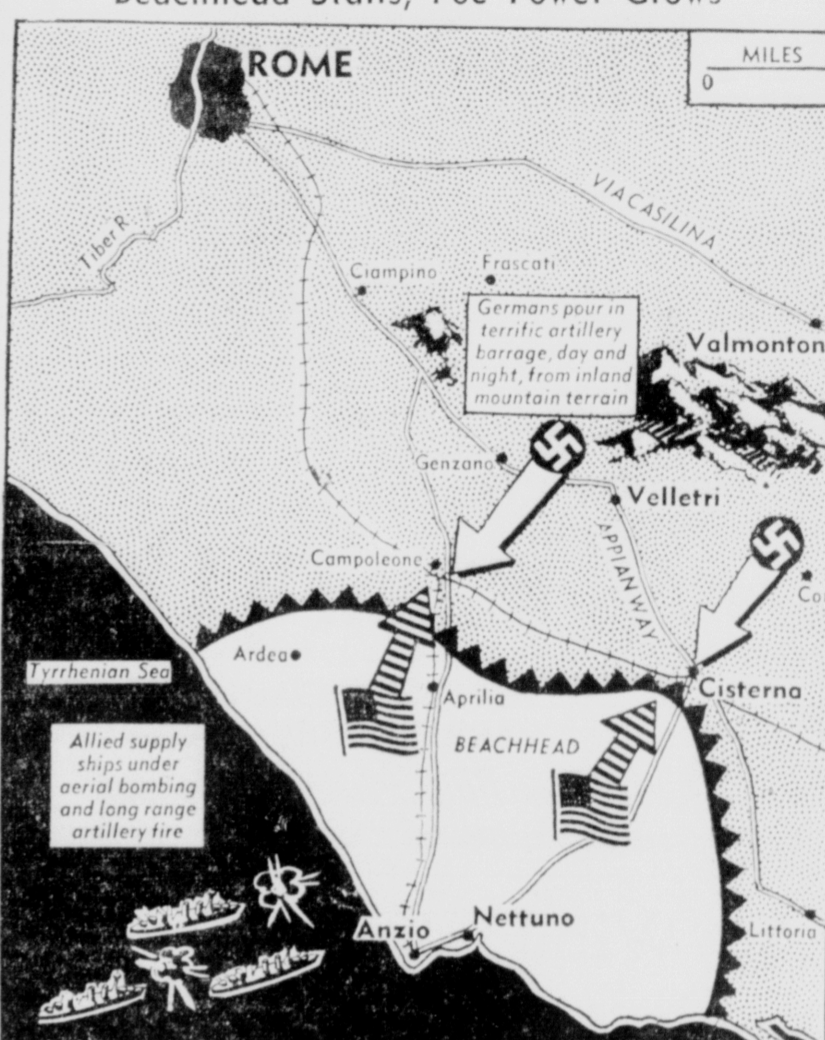

The latest theory advanced in the puzzling case was given yesterday by Lieut. John Quinn, one of the first officers to arrive at the scene of the crime. It climaxed a five-hour coroner's inquest and contradicted previous theories that branded the fatal shooting as the crime of a mysterious gunman. Quinn's views on the slaying immediately were termed "too fantastic" and "ridiculous" by Williams, a State Department attaché and as "fantastic beyond belief" by Mrs. Williams' sister, Mrs. Robert A. Ross.

The officer, a member of the department for 25 years followed a dozen other witnesses who testified at the inquest. Asked by coroner A. L. Brodie if he had formed any conclusions about the crime, he said:

"I have. It is my belief that there was a fight between Patricia (Mrs. Goodbody) and her mother, and I do not believe that there was a third party in the room."

Sheffield Man Is Candidate For Assembly

Former Treasurer Allen M. Gibson Decides To Run For Position

OUTSTANDING RECORD

Allen M. Gibson, of Sheffield, former county treasurer, has announced himself as a candidate for member of general assembly subject to the decision of the Republican voters at the spring primaries, April 25. The action comes as little surprise to his many friends in the county as many have suggested that he become next member of assembly from Warren county and have importuned him to make the announcement.

Mr. Gibson was born at Kane 45 years ago and with his parents moved to Sheffield where he has made his home since. He graduated from the Sheffield High School and later went to State College where he had one year in the study of forestry. From State College he entered the service of the United States in World War I and at the conclusion of the war finished his education at the University of Pittsburgh.

After graduation he spent some time in the Ranger Oil Fields of Texas and also had some experience on the old S and T railroad. In 1929 he went to work for the Home Telephone Company, of Sheffield and also has been in the oil business. He has been in this section for the past 15 years.

Contract for LST Ships Is Completed

Pittsburgh, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Last spring, the first LST (landing ship for tanks) slid down the ways of the American Bridge Company's Ohio river shipyard under a contract with the Navy Department for 40 c. ft.

Now, less than a year later, the company has completed its contract 10 days ahead of schedule. L. A. Paddock president of the U. S. Steel subsidiary, announced and i at work on another large order of these vital invasion ships. A setback early in 1943, when one of the worst floods in Ohio river history swept over the low-lying shipyards at Ambridge, failed to halt production long.

School board having accepted the proposal Monday night and the park committee of borough council sending its confirmation of the plan to Superintendent John G. Rossman on Tuesday, all that remains to assure success of the skating project at Beaty School is cooperation of the weather man. The proposal, as presented to the board of education by the school committee on health, sanitation and public grounds, contains these conditions: The school district is to provide the water and flood the court at the south of the Beaty building when weather conditions are favorable; and to provide temporary lighting, benches and labor available; but with the specific understanding that the interior of the Beaty building is not available and is not to be used in this program.

BATTLESHIPS HELP RELIEVE BEACHHEADS

American Mitchells Pour Tons of Explosives on Cisterna, Demolishing Concealed Tanks

VILLAGE IS FLATTENED

By EDWARD KENNEDY

Allied Headquarters, Algiers, Feb. 9.—(AP)—U. S. planes poured tons of bombs yesterday on Cisterna to cripple that main stronghold of the Nazi line around the invasion beachhead below Rome, while Allied troops struck out in "aggressive patrol activity," Allied headquarters announced today.

German patrols also were active in this vital sector, and Nazi artillery continued a heavy shelling of the beachhead.

The Allies further consolidated their positions, headquarters said.

American Mitchells in morning and afternoon raids pounded buildings in Cisterna where the enemy had concealed tanks and guns, and crewmen said the bombs leveled a large part of the town, 15 miles northeast of Anzio.

Cisterna has been a model town of the pontine agricultural development. The Germans have converted it into a fortress. From it they have launched some of their fiercest attacks on the beachhead.

(A Berlin broadcast declared the Nazis had pierced Allied positions at several points in an attack "from the west, north, and northeast" against the invasion bridgehead, and reached planned targets.)

Allied planes flew 1,500 sorties throughout the day, striking hard at German troop concentrations, airfields and railroads over a wide area, and losing not a single plane.

Medium bombers, besides hammering Cisterna, bombed the railroads at Siena north of Rome.

Allied warships also joined in the assault, bombarding Formia, on the Gulf of Gaeta below the bridgehead, and blowing up an ammunition dump.

Heavy bombers blasted rail yards at Verona and Prato and airfields at Tarquinia and Viterbo, while fighter bombers lashed at shipping off the Dalmatian coast.

The communiqué said night bombers attacked rail yards at Padua Monday night. American Mitchells poured tons of explosives on Cisterna in morning and afternoon raids, demolishing buildings in which the Germans had concealed tanks and guns. Returning crewmen said the bombs flattened a large part of the town, which is the main German stronghold of their line facing the beachhead.

The Germans have begun to bear down all along the Allied beachhead below Rome, but dispatches from the front last night said the increasing Nazi blows had succeeded only in forcing a slight retrenchment by the British in one sector.

The Nazis appeared to be throwing the greatest weight against the British in the area of the model village of Carroceto (Aprilia), 16 miles below the capital. Artillery fire thundered incessantly over the town, and black smoke hung thickly over the town.

Fighting continued to rage in Cassino, meanwhile, with the Germans still holding three-fourths of the shattered town on the main Fifth Army front, and also holding open a supply corridor.

Seed Box in Sunny Window Gives Plants Head Start

A small box in a sunny window will give the seeds of a few favorite varieties of Victory Garden vegetables several weeks' head-start this spring.

If you have no cold frame or hotbed, yet do not want to be limited to the selection of plants usually in the market, the seed box offers a way to grow your own.

The name "flat" is usually applied to the seed box. It may be of any convenient size, from a cigar box to the standard florist's flat, which is usually 14 by 20 inches, 4 inches deep. Holes may be bored in the bottom of the box to assist drainage, though if the boxes are not watertight, excess water has no difficulty in escaping through the cracks. A cigar box should be reinforced by wire to keep it from falling apart.

Soil used in a seed box should always be put through a sieve. The coarse soil may be used in the bottom, the fine on top. Florists' potting soil is the best, or a fine garden loam, about half sand.

Seed may be broadcast one variety to a flat; or sown in rows, which allows several varieties to be grown in the same box, each row being labeled. The broadcast method has some advantage with tiny seeds.

Seeds which are broadcast are usually less crowded than those in rows. If you sow in rows, use the edge of a ruler to make shallow indentations in the soil; sow thinly, cover lightly, and firm the soil with a block of wood.

By lowering the box in a tub of water, the soil may now be thoroughly soaked without danger of washing the seeds from their places. A wet blanket of newspaper may be placed over the soil to keep it from drying, and the box set in a warm, dark place until the seeds sprout.

Immediately sprouts appear remove this blanket, and place the box in the sunniest window you own. A kitchen window is good, because humidity is always greater there. If a pane of glass is kept over the box at night, moisture will be conserved; but always lift an edge of this cover during the day, for ventilation; wipe off moisture which condenses on it, and remove it entirely when the plants grow high enough to touch it.

Watering must be thorough; soak the soil whenever it grows dry; and do this without washing the soil.

Seed boxes handled this way seldom suffer from "damping off," which is a fungus disease that kills little plants. But if you do have this trouble, then disinfectants can be obtained which will minimize it.

Being constantly under observation the seed box enables the amateur to learn at first hand the way seedlings grow, and the conditions which encourage healthy progress.

Councils of Defense Will Hold Meeting At Ridgway

The program for the plant protection school which will be held in the Social Hall of St. Leo's Church, Depot Street, Ridgway, Pennsylvania, was announced today by C. Paul Padlock, Chairman of the Elk County Council of Defense.

The school which will be conducted by the State Council of Defense, will be held under the joint auspices of the Elk County Council of Defense, and will be attended by plant protection officers, defense co-ordinators, safety engineers, emergency medical officers, chiefs of fire and police services, maintenance engineers, personnel officers and others having similar duties in plants and facilities in and near Elk County. Local, State and Federal Government officials having security responsibilities are invited to attend.

The first day's program which will begin promptly at 9:00 a. m. on Tuesday, February 15th, will emphasize plant protection against possible air raids, protection against fire and other hazards, protection against possible civil disaster which may occur at any time and an explanation of the organization of a satisfactory plant protection program.

The lectures will be given by Army officers and civilian specialists and will be supplemented by charts and sound motion pictures.

William Fitzpatrick, Chairman of the Ridgway Council of Defense, will preside at the opening session. Hon. James Mast, Mayor of Ridgway, will open the program, and Ray F. Riegelmeier, Plant Protection officer of the State Council of Defense, will introduce the general subject of plant protection.

Lt. Col. William E. Pierce, Liaison Officer between the Third Civilian Defense Region Headquarters and the States in the Third Civilian Defense Region, will present the subject, "Air Raid Precautions". "Emergency Medical Service in Industrial Plants" and the "War Civilian Security Program" will be discussed by Captain Charles Hayden of Baltimore, and he will also present a plasma demonstration.

Col. Pierce will follow with a general discussion of the building of a plant protection organization, including the subjects of Fire, Police and Operations and Maintenance Services. He will also discuss "Control and Communications".

The afternoon session will be devoted to discussions of plant protection organizations and fire prevention and will be presented by Mr. Harrison D. Pantone of the West Penn Power Company and Mr. Frank Barker of the Elliott Company, Ridgway. These lectures will be accompanied by very appropriate sound motion pictures relating to the subjects.

The presiding officer for the second day's program will be Mr. C. Paul Padlock, Chairman of the Elk County Council of Defense. "Industrial Espionage", "Plant Protection Against Sabotage" and "Personal Investigation and Control" will be discussed by Mr. J. Stuart White, Regional Plant Protection Officer of the Third Civilian Defense Region, and this will be followed by a practical discussion of the "Plant Guard Force" by Mr. H. M. Hill, Chief of Police, Ridgway.

Ray F. Riegelmeier will discuss "The State Responsibility List and the National Security Award". Mr. Arthur L. Cotten, Regional Representative of the Eighth Pennsylvania Region of the State Council of Defense, will follow with a discussion on "Where Training Facilities May Be Found".

After luncheon, the Certificates of Attendance will be awarded and the sound motion picture film, "Divide and Conquer", will be shown.

Kane Republican Sees Need of New Bridge Over Allegheny

In the Kane Republican of yesterday editorial comment was made on the need of a new bridge at Glade Run to replace the structure which was damaged by ice some days ago. The Republican staff drives this highway many times and is familiar with conditions on the approaches which are dangerous to traffic. The editorial as it appeared is as follows:

Traffic confusion on Route 6 created by the ice gorge that damaged the north pier of the Glade bridge on the eastern edge of Warren across the Allegheny River reveals once more the need of a new bridge, not merely a repair of the damaged pier.

Repairs on this river-spanning structure have been frequent, but the bridge today is still a menace and entirely foreign to the best principles of highway construction. Modern highway programs call for total elimination of right angle turns wherever possible and no one crossing the Glade bridge will argue about the few degrees that separate the eastern approach to the bridge from a perfect right angle. That entrance or exit is a danger point and ought to be remedied.

Since the only satisfactory remedial operation possible is a completely new and modern bridge, we unhesitatingly recommend such construction. The amount of traffic over this transcontinental route makes it imperative that all possible precautions be taken to protect it. The number of cities and boroughs served by the route make it one of the nation's important highways and we support any logical plan to improve this highway. From our point of view, a new Glade bridge is one of the first improvements needed.

He is being honored this evening with a farewell family dinner party.

DAIRY FEED PAYMENTS

Dairy Feed Payments will be made to farmers for milk produced in January according to the payment schedule used during November and December, according to Clyde A. Zehner, Vice Chairman of the Pennsylvania State Committee of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency, in an announcement made from Scranton where he is attending a Food Production Conference of the County and Community AAA Committeemen in six counties of northeastern Pennsylvania.

CUTTING INTO ROAD

Detouring of heavy traffic over the road through Pleasant township to Glade Run is having its effect on the road over which the detour passes. The road is of macadam construction and is already being cut up and rough in several spots. Signs have been posted warning drivers to go slow over the rough portion of the road. The highway employees are doing their best to keep the road in condition but it is feared the road will be badly damaged before spring.

Churches, Service Clubs and Other Organized Groups Aided By Scouting Program

The program of the Boy Scouts of America offers to churches, service clubs, P. T. A. groups, and other organized groups, a program for boys from the ages of 9 to 18. Ordinarily, the Boy Scout Program is thought of as reaching boys in the age brackets of 12 to 15 in Boy Scout Troops. During recent years, however, the extension program of Cubbing . . . to reach boys between the ages of 9 and 12, and the Senior Programs (including Explorers, Sea and Air Scout) have been developed to the stages where they offer a really vital program to boys and young men in these area groups prior to and immediately following the 12 to 15 age group where Scouting has through the years held its greatest appeal to boys.

Churches To Honor Groups Next Sunday

February 13th has been designated as Boy Scout Sunday in Boy Scout Anniversary week. Anniversary week, this year marked the 34th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America, on February 8th, 1910. During this period, over 11,000,000 men and boys have co-ordinated their citizenship training and character building program.

On Scout Sunday throughout the land Boy Scouts and Cubs will renew their recognition of God as the ruling and leading power of the Universe and gratefully acknowledge His favors and blessings. In this spirit, they will recommit themselves to the 12th part of the Scout Law which heads . . . "A Scout is reverent. He is reverent toward God. He is faithful in his religious duties, and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion."

Local Troops and Packs have made arrangements to attend Scout Sunday church service in a body, in their own churches, with their own leaders, Committeemen, parents and friends. The boys will appear in their uniforms, carry their unit and American flags, and it is expected their appearance and worship together will form a source of real inspiration and comfort to parents and the other adults in knowing that our youth are being trained in one of the basic fundamentals of good American citizenship—the worship of God. Many local ministers are adjusting their Scout Sunday services in order to make the greatest possible appeal to the boys of their Scouting units . . . Troops and Packs.

Cubbing is a leisure-time character influencing program for boys of 9, 10 and 11 years—a program of things to do. It provides activities which appeal to the boy, activities which also give him a chance to develop habits and attitudes which most adults agree are essential to good citizenship.

Cubbing aims to keep a boy on his home grounds for his good times, and seeks to multiply the ways in which a boy may find joy in his own neighborhood and backyard. Cubbing offers to parents activities which their boys may do. It helps answer the youngster's question, so familiar to every parent, "What can we do now?" It does so by helping the boys answer the question themselves.

Cubbing offers a plan of advancement, associations with boys and with men, activities for individuals and in groups. Cubbing's activities are practiced in the home and back yard and in the neighborhood vacant lot, in the neighborhood den, in a weekly meeting in the neighborhood where the Den Mother is encouragingly at hand to supervise activities and where a Boy Scout comes to them where they play to bring new games, handicraft, and other interests; and in the monthly Pack Meeting with Parents.

ARCANUM MEETING

The regular meeting of the Cone-wango Council, Royal Arcanum, was held last evening in the S. F. of A. hall with a good attendance. A business meeting was held and one candidate was obligated, while application of another was approved. A light lunch was served and series of games played. The next meeting will be held February 22d when a class will be initiated.

OPEN CAFETERIA

The Columbus PTA is sponsoring the government aided school cafeteria opened in that community last week and reports an average of 158 lunches served daily in the Dean school building. The total enrollment is 200, most of whom come from outlying districts, and school and PTA officials have felt there is real need of such a program. On the committee are Mrs. Carlton Curtis, Mrs. Harold Bates, Mrs. Paul Benick and Mrs. Arthur Page.

SECURE SPEAKER

The entertainment committee for the father and son banquet to be held at Grace Methodist church at 6:30 p. m. Friday under the auspices of the McCurdy Class has secured Rev. Philip Schlick, of Russell, as guest speaker. Mr. Schlick is one of the youngest ministers in Warren county and promises something amusing for old and young. Those in charge have also arranged for group singing and other musical numbers. Reservations should be made early with any member of the committee.

Orator Who Knows Germany Spoke Before Academy Meet

Dr. Hans Kronheim, of Jamestown, N. Y., addressing the Social Science Section of the Warren Academy of Sciences at its February meeting, Saturday evening, on the subject: "Germany Today and After Hitler", declared Germany must not only be defeated, but that she must be dealt with severely and with utter justice, not from revenge, but for our own self-preservation. Dr. Kronheim warned that if the mistake after the last war was repeated, we would find our sons and grandsons fighting a still more terrible war all over again within a few years. It was behind the smokescreen of a false "revolution" that the real rulers of Germany after the armistice went to work with methodical efficiency to build up material and train armies for another try, expecting to roft from their mistakes and conquer this time.

It was out of his own lifetime experience and ultimate tragedy that Dr. Kronheim, philosopher, scholar, author and rabbi of one of the important German Synagogues, with clear brevity presented a picture of Germany's past 50 years which must be understood as a prelude to this war. Hitler is not a new nor isolated phenomenon, but the personification of that "Pan-Germanism" which has been for many decades the greatest menace to world peace. Dr. Kronheim urged all Americans to understand that for generations the real rulers of Germany were not the reigning monarchs, nor the people under the Republic, but the powerful Junkers—the Military and the great landowners and the big industrialists—to whom war was the normal way of life and peace but an interlude between conquests. It is this reactionary, ruthless pagan Junker class which must be forever absolutely and unconditionally eliminated if any peace in the world is to be preserved, he warned. Their lands must be broken up. They must be exiled or removed from any chance to regain power, by the most thorough measures. It is this class that through control of economics, government, education and the army have systematically perverted the mass of Germans to the idea of their destiny as the conquering Master Race to rule the world. They must be utterly and forever eliminated.

Dr. Kronheim left Germany in 1938 for England to find facilities for his congregation in Germany, and was persuaded to come to the United States to successfully carry out his mission. While on the ocean Hitler unleashed the sudden and most terrible pogrom against the Jews known to world history. Dr. Kronheim's Synagogue was burned, and his people herded into concentration, dispersed, and systematically murdered. Upon questioning Dr. Kronheim, he offered his opinion that today, of the millions of German Jews before the war, a few thousand were fortunate enough to escape, but that these millions have been brutally and cruelly murdered and completely eliminated. A few thousand survivors are broken physically and mentally, and will never recover from their torture. Arriving in the U. S., he was unable to return, and finally became Rabbi of the Temple Hessed of Jamestown, N. Y., and acting Rabbi of the Warren Congregation Tephareth Israel. Dr. Kronheim has been in this country popular as a teacher of philosophy, and as a lecturer on conditions in Germany. Graduated from College for the Science of Judaism at Berlin Germany, Dr. Kronheim attended the Universities of Berlin and Göttingen, studying philosophy, pedagogy and languages. Received his Doctor of Philosophy Degree at the University of Erlangen. He is author of the philosophical book "Lotze's Causal Theory and Monism."

As to who will provide leadership for the reconstruction of a defeated Germany, Dr. Kronheim, explaining the three groups in Germany to be the ruling Junkers, the vast majority of "neutral" or sheeplike people who will follow leadership, and the very effective underground. The underground include valiant, able and informed leaders who never believed in Pan-Germanism nor Nazism. Then there is the church. Dr. Kronheim described dramatically the moral and spiritual courage of Protestant and Catholic Christian leaders and laymen in Germany who have paid with their lives or internment in concentration camps for their refusal to betray Christianity to the Nazis. These Christians who have kept the faith will be the spiritual salvation of a spiritually bankrupt and paganized Germany.

In his opinion, it is imperative that some international police system preserve order in Germany. If the German military are permitted to police the country, they will repeat their former march to power and warfare.

Dr. Kronheim was introduced by Dr. Leonard Rosenweig. He spoke before the largest audience of the season. His replies to forum session questions were most lucid and vivid. Hosts for the evening were Enoch Lundquist, Robt. W. Mackay, Dr. V. H. McAlpin, A. N. McCausland and Warren E. Miller. The Hon. E. H. Beshlin, chairman presided.

At the March 4th meeting, Dr. Frank Cummings, of the Warren State Hospital, will speak on the subject "What Shall Be America's Foreign Policy."

HATS OFF TO THE BOY SCOUTS

The Boy Scouts of America every day give increased promise to the prophesy that America's future lies in its Youth. In almost every phase of the nation's home front war effort, and indirectly on the fighting lines, the Boy Scouts are placing service above self and helping to speed the day of ultimate victory.

Scrap drive aid, help in selling of War Bonds and Stamps, service of assistance to local Civilian Defense councils as messengers or in specialized capacities. These are only a few of the marks that are being chalked up by the Scouts as their contribution to the coming peace.

Key man in this essential home front corps is the Scoutmaster and Cubmaster, who receive little or no recognition for their roles in this work. It is the Scoutmaster . . . and the Cubmaster . . . who keep the whole organization in effective working order, the Scoutmaster . . . and the Cubmaster . . . who administer the Scouts' and Cubs' war program, and the Scoutmaster . . . and Cubmaster . . . who sees to it that every available home front job that boys can handle is undertaken and fulfilled by the organization.

Not only is the work of the Scoutmaster . . . and the Cubmaster . . . a highly important part in the nation's war effort as a whole, it serves in another capacity to maintain the welfare of the country during war. By constantly working and finding ways of building character, Scoutmasters . . . and Cubmasters . . . in their dealing with human souls are ever strengthening the bulwark against juvenile delinquency and unrest.

Our hats are off! We salute you Mr. Scoutmaster . . . and Mr. Cubmaster . . . you're doing a REAL JOB.

THE FIXED INCOME GROUP

Since the threat of inflation first appeared in the early days of America's participation in the war, economists have warned us that the fulfillment of the threat would bear most heavily on what they call "the fixed income group."

The truth of the remark is self-evident, for, clearly, those who lack the means of increasing the volume of their incoming dollars, by increasing correspondingly their prices, fees or wages, have no defense against the shrinkage of the dollar's value.

What has been little examined is the size and composition of this group. It is a large one. More than white collar workers, clerks, typists, accountants and fourteen million men and women, over ten percent of the population, depend entirely or in large part on relatively fixed incomes. With their dependents, they number approximately twenty millions, fifteen percent of the whole.

Some of these are persons receiving public assistance—pensions, relief, insurance annuities—or income from bonds and mortgages. Others compose the whole apparatus of government, Federal, State and Local, whose income is fixed by statute and may be increased only by legislative process. Among them are the Justices of the United States Supreme Court, the traffic policeman on the corner, the public health doctor, most of the employees around newspaper offices, the village school teacher and the officers and men of the armed forces.

Still others are the professors in our universities and the research workers of our large foundations, whose income is paid largely from the interest on dwindling endowment funds. Perhaps the largest of all these groups—within the group is the vast army of the rest, whose wages rise with notorious slowness but who, in the last analysis, are the backbone of the nation's business.

The judiciary, the health services, education, research, the Army and Navy, commerce—these are the mainstays of the country. An inflationary disaster to these "fixed income groups" might well prove a disaster we could none of us survive.

That proposal by State Senator L. E. Chapman that a new bridge be constructed at Glade, instead of repairing the damaged pier to the present structure, is one that deserves close consideration by State Highway Department officials. The curves on the approaches and the railroad crossing at the bridge have been blamed for numerous serious accidents since the advent of automobiles.

So far as state and county politics are concerned looks like a pretty quiet primary campaign this spring.

It is always a pleasure for us to co-operate in helping to put over Boy Scout Week.

It Covereth a Multitude of Sins

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Where a few months ago you could find a generous sprinkling of loyal Democrats on Capitol Hill who admitted that the House would be Republican after the 1944 elections, it's hard to find even one now who is down-hearted.

The answer, of course, is President Roosevelt and the possibilities of a fourth term. Plus, I should say, their conviction that Republican failure so far to establish a strong united front on major issues and any one presidential candidate will carry through until the November elections.

Observers here think there is no doubt that the defections in the Democratic ranks are closing up and will disappear entirely if the party old-liners and leftists can be brought together on a vice presidential nominee. Among the seven southern and border state governors and party leaders who recently called on the President were several who had made almost bitter campaigns against his policies in recent years. Yet it was pretty reliably reported that all of them pledged every ounce of their energy to his re-election. According to reports, he thanked them heartily, but neither by wink nor comment did he give any clue as to whether he would be a candidate.

Even Democratic political neophytes here agree with many older hands that if the war is still going on in all its fury, Roosevelt can be reelected hands down. If it is all over but the shouting for peace and a revision of domestic policies, the Republicans can win with almost any candidate. If the President and his advisers have even a mild nunch that such might be the case, why should any commitments be made until there is some indication of how the big military undertakings now under way will go?

Nevertheless, the change in point of view among the Democratic members of the House is one of the most interesting straws in the pre-convention wind. In the first place, every member of the House is up for re-election. In the second, there is no ignoring and no one has, that the Republican "trend" has all but taken over control of the lower chamber in the last eight years.

Yet, the feeling among Democrats in Congress as of today is that if President Roosevelt carries the standard in November, they will still have those important committee chairmanships, majority prerogatives, and be able to elect a Democratic speaker, come next January.

AMONG important Capitol Hill guessers who feel that what happens, say the observers, is likely to be a tight campaign, with the winning party out in front only by a nose. But barring the refusal of the President to run again—there is a strong probability, say Drewry and others who were recently doubtful, that even the House will be Democratic for the thirteenth consecutive year.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Saw by the papers that the Army is advising its editors against using "the female form in Army newspapers."

In other words, to more pin-up pictures in the camp sheets. At first blush—who said that?—we were impressed with the thought that movie studios might be saving a lot of scarce photographic negative and paper from the advice. Not so. All the loils have been sending cheesecake to the camp publications on request, as well as pictures to individual G. I.'s asking them. What one cheesecake specialist anticipates: "Jeepers, if they stop printing 'em, we'll have to send thousands of single pictures where we only sent hundreds before!"

The War Department guide which contained this advice to editors commented: "This (the female form in Army newspapers) is not a military subject, although it is frequently a subject of the military." That would seem to leave the matter squarely up to the Navy, which might claim a priority anyway based on the "face that launched a thousand ships."

Incidentally, Hollywood isn't worried. It thinks the "female form" is here to stay.

SEYMOUR NEBENZAL, who made the French hit "Mayerling" is planning a re-make here in English.

Nature in Hollywood: Ray Milland and Barbara Britton in "Till We Meet Again" have a scene in which they wander through the French countryside, discover a fallen baby bird, tenderly replace it beside its brother in the nest. The French woodland is on Stage 18; the birds are Japanese rice birds; their "mother" is a magpie—selected for previous screen experience; their nest once belonged to a dove.

Joan Crawford still has her contract with Warner's—but she can't get a cook and a nurse on the dotted line so she can start doing something about it. "My new nurse," she said, referring to her umpteenth, "is leaving tomorrow, and the cook left to-night."

INCIDENTAL information: movie hairdressers cuss, if they're the cussing kind, over naturally curly hair. When girls—like Maureen O'Hara, Ginger Rogers, Betty Grable—have it, the coiffeurs have a Westmore's own time "doing a thing with it."

Quick look at Bette Davis on the "Mr. Skeffington" set: A cloud of cigarette smoke in conference with Director Vincent Sherman. Dialogue goes like this: "I think she'd think at all." "Yes, I see, but—Don't you think she'd be feeling this way, rather than . . ." It's perpetual between scenes.

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have poor digestion? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel headachy after eating? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you get sour or upset easily? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel tired—listless? ☐ YES ☐ NO

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails—your food may remain undigested—lie sour and heavy in your digestive tract.

Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills today—at any drugstore—only 25¢. You will be glad you did.

READING & WRITING

By Edwin Seaver and Robin McKown

BACK in the 1920's, one of the first men to realize the potentialities of evil in the outcast, spy, and beerhall ranter, Adolf Hitler, was the journalist, Konrad Heiden. To arouse the democratic leaders from their lethargy, he wrote "History of National Socialism," which was suppressed and publicly burned in Germany when Hitler came to power. He followed this with his "One Man Against Europe."

Now he has completed a comprehensive book about the world's Number One Nazi titled "Der Fuehrer," which the Book-of-the-Month Club has made its selection for February.

Konrad Heiden was born in Munich, in 1902, the son of a labor union official. In 1923, he joined the staff of the Frankfurter Zeitung, with the special assignment of covering the Nazi movement in Munich.

Then, as now, Hitler appreciated the power of publicity. Although Heiden always wrote denunciations of him, Hitler paid him homage because he was a reporter. On several occasions, in fact, he refused to start a meeting until the representative of the Frankfurter Zeitung arrived. That is how Konrad Heiden got the reputation of being "the man who kept Hitler waiting."

Heiden is also credited with being the originator of the term "Nazi." At first, Hitler's party called themselves "Nazos"—the normal abbreviation of "National Socialism." As a term of derision, Heiden referred to them as "Nazis." In the Bavarian villages, Nazi (a corruption of Ignatius) is slang for bumpkin or simpleton. Soon "Nazi" was used so widely the party adopted it officially.

Hunted by the Gestapo, Heiden was forced underground, and in 1933, he escaped to the Saar, where he edited a paper campaigning against the return of the Saar to Germany. After the fight was lost, he fled to Paris. When war broke out he was interned in a French concentration camp. As the Germans approached, the prisoners were evacuated, and he made his way south across France on foot. After incredible adventures, he reached Lisbon and eventually America. His three years here have been devoted to the writing of "Der Fuehrer."

When the fabulously successful theatrical producer and actor was a little boy, relates Ward Morehouse in his biography, "George M. Cohan," his dislike for school was only equalled by his aversion for violin lessons. Many years later when George and his father were dining at a fine hotel, they were both impressed by a violin solo rendered during their meal. "Say, dad," spoke up George, "perhaps if I had given more attention to my violin lessons I might be playing here." "Yes, George," replied his father, "you might—but you wouldn't be eating here."

Public Library's Story Hour Will Begin Thursday

The first of the public library's story hours will be held tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock in the children's department, with Mrs. Gerald Archibald in charge. Announcements have been sent out to all the schools about this new community children's hour for boys and girls from the first to the sixth grades. Parents and teachers are asked to remind the children of the hour. Requests have come from many mothers of pre-school children that their boys and girls be permitted to attend; but it will be necessary at this time to limit the story hour to the children of school age.

Mrs. Archibald is a professional story-teller with special training and wide experience and she is planning to build up a story hour period, which will be filled with the stories that children of all times have loved.

There will be fairy tales, of course, stories of adventure and hero tales, sagas and folk tales which have come down through the years from many lands. Probably there is no way that boys and girls can come so close to those of other lands, and certainly of other times, as through the stories which have grown up in those countries. Without any self-conscious effort, a feeling of the brotherhood of man is established in the hearts and minds of boys and girls. The things which really capture the imagination in childhood are the most lasting.

Local Business Women Plan April District Session

Holding their February meeting at the YWCA activities building last evening, members of the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club got plans under way for entertaining state and district officials here on April 29 for the spring meeting of the district.

President Louise Neily announced that Mary Denman, national membership chairman, will be the principal speaker for the evening session, which will follow dinner in the YW. Business sessions will be held during the afternoon. Details concerning the program and dinner reservations will be announced later, together with committees on arrangements for the event.

Also planned at this time was the club's participation in the joint service club luncheon to be held February 22 to honor visiting officials of the American Legion Post and Auxiliary, here that day for the Chief Complanter Post-Auxiliary's annual Washington birthday party. Those who have not already made their luncheon reservations may do so by calling Ethel Baldensperger, 2162, no later than February 18.

Members were asked to register their war and civilian defense activities for a survey that is being made and reports were given by Doris Peterson for the secretary and by Treasurer Inez Leake. Katherine Bauer, chairman of publicity, distributed the club bulletin. Gifts were voted to the YW in the sum of $10 and for the spring 'Vol Cross drive in the amount of $20.

After dinner had been served at a table attractively decorated with red and white candles, red paper hearts and tiny figurines, Ruth Woodin presented Mary Church, general secretary of the YW and a new member of the club, in an interesting talk on "Our Everyday Money." Miss Church explained something of the history of money, types of coins and how to find mint and designer's marks illustrating from her own collection. She closed with a clever poem.

Viola Lindmark and Evelyn Wolstencroft were in charge of group singing of old songs in keeping with the Valentine motif.

Dinner-Dance For Legion Officials Is Planned For Washington's Birthday

Department Commander Francis X. Murray, of the American Legion, along with a group of state officers, will pay a visit to Warren February 22. Also in the group will be Mrs. H. W. Piper, of Altoona, and other officials of the American Legion and Auxiliary.

Commander Glen E. Stone, of Chief Complanter Post No. 135, announced this morning that Commander Murray would come to Warren direct from his home in Scranton and that he would visit other counties in this part of the state during the balance of the week.

For many years members of Chief Complanter Post have entertained state officers of the Legion and Auxiliary on Washington's birthday. This year a committee comprised of Ed. Hawley, Richard Hansen, John Meade and Clarence Agren are in charge of the arrangements incidental to the visit of the department officers. It is expected the visitors will meet with officers of other Legion posts in the county and in the evening they will address a dinner-meeting of members of Chief Complanter Post at the Legion Home. They will also appear at a service club luncheon at noon. Members of the local post and auxiliary will honor the department commander and auxiliary president at a dinner-dance in the evening. Due to the present emergency the affair will not assume too much of a social aspect and the attendance will be limited to 100 guests. Because the limitation is placed at this number the dinner will be only open to members of the post or auxiliary. Tickets for the dinner will be on sale tomorrow at Geracimos and the Legion Home or may be secured from members of the committee.

Members of the Legion or Auxiliary who may be unable to secure tickets for the dinner are reminded that a large number can be accommodated for dancing which will begin at 9:30 and continue until 12:30. Music will be furnished by McCune's orchestra. A small admission charge will be made for the dance and tickets may be secured that night at the Legion Home.

For her details regarding this Washington's Birthday Party will be announced at the next regular meeting of Chief Complanter Post which will be held at the Legion Home Monday, February 14. Commander Stone urges all Legion members be on hand as there are many matters of importance to be acted upon.

Dr. Laird's Talk Ruth Weir Bride To Foremen Is One Of Ensign Wood In To Be Remembered Plainfield Rites

A high premium was put on the ability to get along with people by Dr. Donald A. Laird in his address to 175 men of Warren's business and industrial life who attended the annual "Executive's Night" dinner of the Foremen's Club in the Y. M. C. A. building last night.

Dr. Laird told simple truths about human relationships in an impressive and entertaining fashion, illustrating with real life stories which will be remembered for a long time by those fortunate enough to have heard this outstanding psychologist in his appearance here. Enthusiastic praise of the address was heard on all sides following adjournment of the meeting.

In his talk on "How To Understand and Get Along with People" Dr. Laird declared that "attitudes are catching. But bosses can't be reflectors—they must be generators of constructive attitudes." He expressed the belief that there is nothing for which big industrialists are willing to pay more money than the ability to get along with people.

The speaker dwelt on two prized abilities all persons should develop: the ability to criticize others so as to make friends and to build confidence, and the ability to notice individuals favorably. He said that every worker likes to be really known by his immediate boss. It was not so much which Dr. Laird said, but the delightful and interesting way in which he said it that counted, as well as the apparent wealth of experience from which he could and did draw to drive home his points. He spoke for over an hour, but no one was glad to have him stop.

R. J. Ledebur, president of the Foremen's Club presided. A fine dinner was efficiently served by wives of the Foremen. Dinner music was pleasingly and well played by a string trio composed of Mrs. Chris Penke, Mrs. Harold Flowers and Miss Patricia Murray.

President's Greeting Fine Interpretation of Training Received By All Boy Scouts

On the occasion of the 34th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America, President Franklin D. Roosevelt has addressed a letter of greeting and interpretation of the significance of Scout training in the lives of boys the nation over. The letter was received Tuesday at the local Scout office.

The White House Washington February 8, 1944.

Fellow Scouts and Scouters: Nothing would give me more pleasure than to speak to you personally today but as you know the war must be fought and won and that is our number one job at present.

From facts placed before me I know what a superb record of war service you have achieved since Pearl Harbor. Keep up the good work. But carry on your normal Scouting, too. It will be of lasting value to you as you grow into manhood. Live democracy in your Troop and in your home. Get out of doors. Camp. And above all, live the Scout Oath and Law.

"Get-Together" Program On Friday Evening To Top Boy Scout Week Activities Here

The crowning achievement of the Boy Scout Week Celebration in the Warren County Council will be the "Get Together" program scheduled for Friday evening at 7:30 at the Warren High School. The entire Scouting and Cubbing personnel of the area served by the Council will assemble for this gala event. Parents, friends and the general public are cordially invited to participate in the affair.

The Troops and Packs will assemble at the High School at 7:30 p. m. The program which has been prepared well in advance, by the Camping and Activities Committee, will include the following: An Invocation, parade of the colors by Scouts of North Warren Troop 13, the group singing led by William Hill, the Pledge of allegiance led by T. M. Engle, Scoutmaster of Russell Troop 14. The welcome and Roll Call of Troops and Packs will be made by Leo Gleese, Scout Commissioner. The Cubs of the Home Street School Mothers Club Pack No. 1 will present their Cub Circus. Scouts of the First Methodist Church Troop No. 9 will present a Scouting Demonstration. At this point the program will be broken with the group singing some rousing Scouting songs led by Chester R. Seymour, Scout Executive. (Turn to Page Eight)

Cub Record In County Is Envious One

The record Scouts and Cubs have made in their Achievements and Advancement programs during 1943 have been exceptionally fine, and exceeds the work done in previous years in many ways, it is learned from H. L. Blair, chairman of the Committee on Scout Advancement.

During 1943, 215 boys became Tenderfoot Scouts, 79 were advanced to the rank of Second Class, 27 to First Class, 22 to Star, 12 to Life, and 11 to Eagle. In Cubbing, 40 boys have become Bobcats, 14 Wolves, 7 Bears and 1 Lion, 362 Merit Badges were earned.

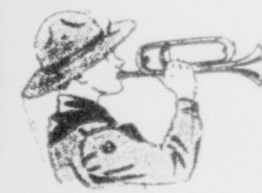

During the last year a new Troop Board of Review Manual was produced by the Advancement Committee, and 21 of the Troops in the Council have asked for permission to use it. It is hoped that all of the Troop Committees in the Council will be using the plan during the coming year.

Warren County Council Has 572 Boys and 274 Women and Men Participating In Work

The annual report of the Warren County Council, Boy Scouts of America, reveals that on December 31, 1943, there were registered 28 Scout Troops, 517 Scouts, 4 Cub Packs, 55 Cubs—making a total of 32 Units and 572 boys. There were 274 men and women actively registered and serving the boyhood of Warren County and Ludlow, making it possible for the boys to enjoy the activities and adventures of Cubbing, Scouting and Senior Scouting.

Since January 1st, a new Troop sponsored by a Group of Citizens in Chandlers Valley has come into existence, a new Explorer Troop.

The annual report of the Warren County Council, Boy Scouts of America, reveals that on December 31, 1943, there were registered 28 Scout Troops, 517 Scouts, 4 Cub Packs, 55 Cubs—making a total of 32 Units and 572 boys. There were 274 men and women actively registered and serving the boyhood of Warren County and Ludlow, making it possible for the boys to enjoy the activities and adventures of Cubbing, Scouting and Senior Scouting.

The Council has set its objectives for 1944 to include the organization of 6 new Scout Troops, 2 new Senior Scouting Units, 1 new Explorer Patrol, 1 new neighborhood patrol, and 3 new Cub Packs. A brief review of the above will indicate the extension of the Movement is well under way.

Thousands of Scoutmasters are in the Armed Forces but Scout Troops are carrying on because many eligible men have stepped in to fill their places. Indeed, more and more men who appreciate what Scouting is doing and what it means to America are offering their service to the Movement.

Since the earliest days of Scouting the Scoutmasters have been an inspiration to all of us. I salute them.

As the Honorary President of the Boy Scouts of America, I am proud to learn that you are looking ahead to the day of World Brotherhood. It is, as you say, the hope of the world. If the people of all countries had taken the basic philosophy of Scouting to heart, perhaps there would never have been a second World War. It therefore behooves us all, as Scouts and Scouters, to foster mutual understanding and mutual respect. Let us live up to what we so deeply believe.

Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Real Appeal Is Offered In Senior Work

To meet the increased need for wholesome outlets on the parts of 15 to 18 year old young men, the Explorer, Sea and Air Scouting Programs find a real appeal. As is the case with Cubbing, and Scouting. The Senior Scouting program finds its expression through churches, service clubs, P. T. A. groups, Granges, and other organized groups who have expressed a desire to use the program with their own boys and young men . . . and other young men in the neighborhood.

The development of the details of the Senior Scouting program within any church or group which sponsors such a Unit is based upon four fundamentals . . . in order to adequately meet the needs of the young men who constitute its personnel. Namely, first, exploration of occupation, hobbies, personal improvement projects of all sorts; second, a vigorous adventurous outdoor program through trips, expeditions, unusual hiking and camping experiences and related outdoor projects; third, rendering unusual and outstanding service, particularly that related to the sponsoring institution and the community; and fourth, the practice of the social amenities, especially those in which his girl friend participates.

To meet the apparent growing unrest among young men between the ages of 15 and 18 in the area served by the Warren County Council, Boy Scouts of America, the attention of churches, service clubs, P. T. A. groups, Granges, and groups of citizens is invited to this phase of the program of the Boy Scout movement.

IT'S GREAT TO BE A SCOUT

Every boy in the land should be one! Because Scouting develops a true sense of brotherhood among boys of all backgrounds; because in wartime Scouting speeds Victory... and in peacetime it builds all the characteristics that make for admirable manhood.

It is judged that approximately half of our fighting forces were former Boy Scouts! And that's something every Scout is proud of... and Warren joins the nation in its pride in the Boy Scouts of America for the part they are playing in the present conflict. In these troubled times, Boy Scouts are in the thick of it in the home front, acting as messengers for Civilian Defense, collecting scrap, selling War Stamps and Bonds, putting up War Bond posters and serving in countless other ways in the best Scouting tradition.

This week, National Boy Scout Week, let's all try to match the glorious war effort of the Boy Scouts by our own victory efforts... let's show them that we, too, know the meaning of the Scout Pledge, "I WILL DO MY BEST—TO DO MY DUTY!"

BOY SCOUTING IS A MOVEMENT HEARTILY ENDORSED BY WARREN KIWANIANIS

BULK LIME SPREADS EASIER

PENNSYLVANIA farmers have been spreading BULK lime on their soil to keep it sweet for a hundred years or more. The old way, and a very simple one—still used by hundreds of farmers—is to load the lime on a low-wheeled wagon, sled, or stone boat, and spread it over the field with a shovel. Many farmers use manure spreaders, mixing the lime and manure.

The latest way to spread—one that's faster and easier on the back—is with a spinner-type machine, as shown in the photograph above. You hitch the spreader behind your truck or wagon and then shovel the lime into the hopper of the spreader, which throws the lime evenly over a wide radius as you drive along. By this method you spread very rapidly on any field you can drive a team and wagon over. You can even spread in the rain.

Another advantage is that BULK lime is easier and simpler to handle. It's dumped anywhere. Weather doesn't hurt it. You don't have to lift clumsy, heavy sacks into the barn or shed and then rehandle them when you're ready to spread. You have no torn or broken sacks to mess around with. And the moisture content of BULK lime keeps down disagreeable dust.

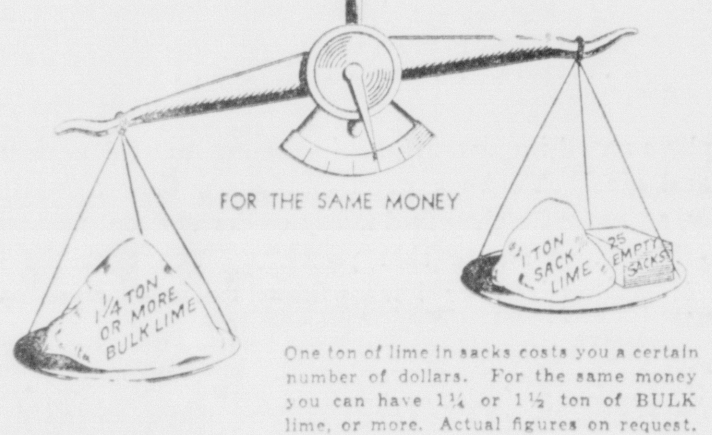

The BASIC SUPER TEN Servicing Agent who delivers your BULK lime may be able to spread it for you, too, if you arrange with him in time. Or he may be able to furnish you a spinner-type spreader for a few days.

Biggest advantage of all is that when you order BULK lime you get 25% to 50% more lime, as compared to sacked lime.

When you see the County Conservation Office or Farm Checker about your lime for this spring, just ask how much more lime you'll get if you take BULK lime instead of sacked lime. You'll be surprised at how much more BULK lime you're entitled to. And you'll tell them, "Put ME down for BULK lime this year!"

Remember this—Farmers who try out BULK lime don't go back to sacked lime.

(From Page Six)

One of the highlights of the program will be the official recognition of the 1943 crop of Eagle Scouts in a ceremony to be staged by Harold Hampson representing the Borough Council. The young men who have achieved the Eagle Rank during the year and who are eligible to participate in this ceremony are: Donald White, Bill Hill, Jr., John Robertson, John Knapp, and Thomas Hampson of the First Presbyterian Church No. 4, Walter Wheelock and Walter Branstrom of Russell Troop No. 14, Forest Bainbridge and William Blair of the First Methodist Church Troop No. 9, James King of the Tidoute PTA Troop No. 27, and Martin Carlson of the Grace Methodist Church Explorer Troop No. 2. These Scouts will be called to the stage with their mothers and dads for public recognition, and to receive the ovation from their younger Scout brothers.

A Boy Scout band has been rehearsing for the last few weeks under the direction of Harry Summers, in order to be ready to provide the music necessary for the Get Together program.

The community's recognition of the unfailing service of the Scoutmasters and Cubmasters will be expressed by H. L. Banghart, president of the Warren County Council, Boy Scouts of America. The recognition of Scout Troops and Cub Packs and Units of the United States Junior Citizens Service Corps and a statement concerning the opportunities Scouting Units will have in winning the war on the home front will be made by Allen M. Gibson, chairman of the Warren County Council of Defense. A carefully prepared certificate will be presented to the leaders of the Troops and Packs, recognizing them as units of the U. S. Junior Citizens Service Corps in Warren County and Ludlow—these will be a symbol of volunteer service rendered during a state of war and will be a souvenir which the Scouts and Cubs will cherish through the years to come.

An award will be made to the Troop or Pack with the highest percentage of its registered membership present—another award will be made to the Troop or Pack with the largest delegation of parents. These will be made by B. W. Knapp, chairman of the Camping and Activities Committee of the Council, who will be the master of ceremonies of the "Get Together."

The program will come to a conclusion with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" led by William Hill, the retiring of the Colors by Scouts of Troop No. 13, and the Benediction.

Scouts and Leaders Making Contribution to War Effort

During the last year, Scouts, Cubs and their Leaders in the Warren County Council, have contributed in no small way to the war effort on the home front. The various activities and their results have been added to the work of the other Councils in the country to make a record of service that staggers the imagination.

Boy Scouts At Ludlow Plan For Campaign

The 1944 Boy Scout campaign has its initial meeting of workers Tuesday evening, February 8 at the Boy Scout Headquarters in Ludlow at 7:30 p. m. It was learned this morning from Andrew Bair, community chairman and member of the finance committee of the Warren County Council.

The prospect cards will be selected by the workers and last minute instructions will be given by Andrew Bair. It is the intention of the campaign workers to bring their campaign to a successful conclusion during the period of February 8-22 and that nearly every home in Ludlow and vicinity will be solicited for financial help to maintain the services of the Warren County Council during the coming year.

The men who will assist with the campaign effort are: M. I. Jones, C. R. Giffert, C. Everett Johnson, C. H. Hanson, Wm. A. Hanson, Adolph F. Johnson, Walter S. Cox, Gustav Olson, Arthur Christensen, Leroy A. Johnson, E. O. Nelson, Lyle B. Carr, E. Wilbur Johnson, C. E. Carlson and Andrew Bair, Community Chairman.

Dragons Clicking To Perfection in 5th Win To Hold District Lead

The Dragons came through their last night on Beaty Gym, defeating the Titusville Rockets 42 to 17 before a good sized crowd.

Warren took over complete command of District 10 by wrapping up No. 5 for themselves with only one loss against them far in the sectional race.

Repeating their out-of-town performance at Titusville, they led 17 pointers in the opening 10 minutes while holding the Rockets only 6. Although the enemy took an early lead in the first half of play at 3-2, the Dragons went fast in the remainder to take a lead that was never threatened throughout the game.

With every starter breaking in the scoring columns, and McLean and Eaton garnering 7 points apiece, the Dragons held 13 advantage at the half mark.

Wrong Game, Son

Ant Dunlap uses football tactics in playing Occidental five nose out UCLA, 44-42 in Los Angeles.

er, Titusville depended on Anderson, Pringle and Nelson to stay half the distance from the Dragon— but Warren's defenses were working to such perfection that they were at a loss to shoot most of the "e" as the local blocking system hemmed them in from every angle.

Striking out early in the third session to offset any rally that might occur on the part of the Rockets, Warren ran their lead to 20 points by holding every Titusville attack and limiting them to a lone foul counter while racking 7 for themselves with Eaton pacing the attack.

The Dragons were able to use their entire reserve squad in the last few minutes of play and they took over to bring the score to 42 with 8 pointers while stemming the Rocket assault at 3. Following the varsity's manner of playing two of them broke into the scoring columns and helped put the Rockets down to their fifth league loss against no triumphs.

The locals showed their best in last night's performance with defensive and offensive clicking like a well-oiled machine as they broke up every attack by the Titusville outfit and worked the ball under the hoppers for most of their pointers.

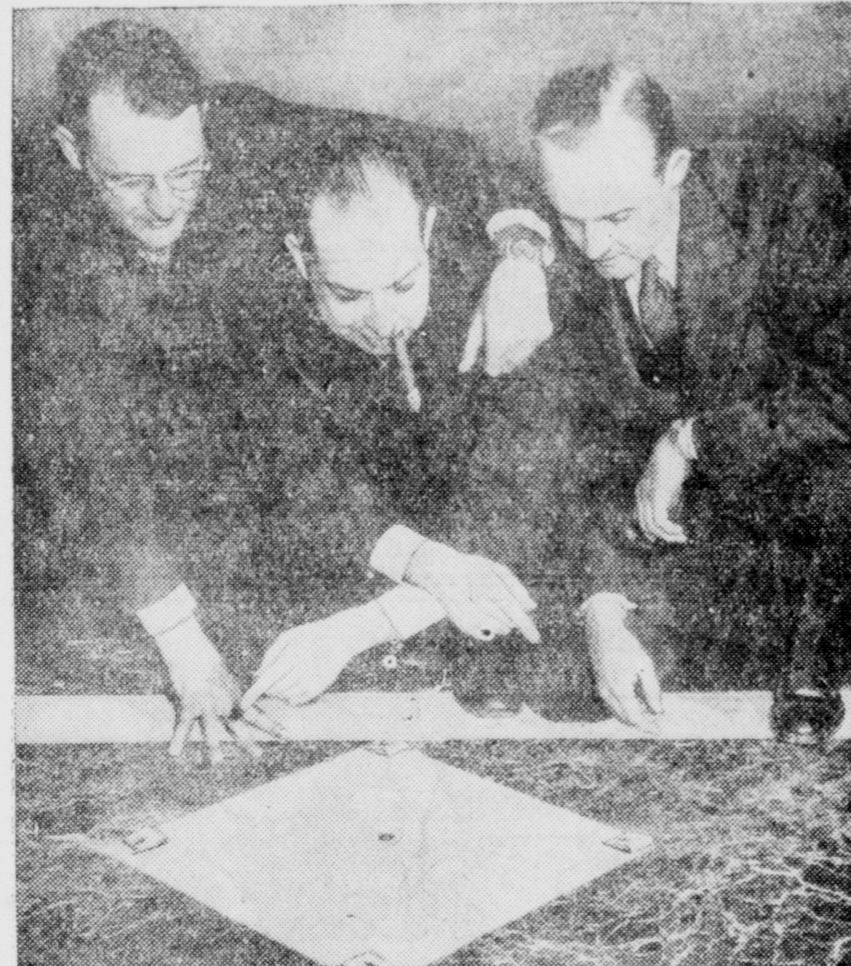

Jim Eaton and McLean were the bulwarks on defense, while the former collected 13 points with Finley and Scalise passing the ball to perfection to bring them their 10th victory of the season. The hapless Rockets depended on Windoft and Lowrie to hold their team intact to the terrific lacing they suffered while Pringle and Anderson led the scoring at 5 pointers.

Forge and O'Connors Clash Tomorrow on YMCA Court; Festival Planned for Friday

Fans in Warren are sure of plenty of basketball this week and only half of it has been played so far.

After last night's Warren High School game in which they defeated the Titusville Black and Gold, and Monday's YMCA schedule, the mighty Sheffield O'Connors and National Forge clash on the Y court tomorrow night and the Warren High School Basketball Festival will wind it up Friday night.

The O'Connors and Forge met a week ago tomorrow night before a capacity crowd on the "Y" Court and the Irvine outfit managed to come out ahead in a fast moving contest which gave them the first half title. Tonight's tilt will be their first meeting in the second half and promises to match the other in thrills.

If the O'Connors can down the Forgers tonight, they have all the chance in the world to come into a second half title, with most of their remaining games pretty sure of entry in the win columns, barring anything short of a miracle, while the Forge is certain of winning to put the Irish in a bad spot for capturing the title and allowing themselves easy sailing from here in.

Warren High School's annual festival of basketball will top it off Friday when several games will be played on the Beaty Gym to be followed by a dance sponsored by the Student Council. This is always one of the year's top cage treats and the High School's new dance policy makes it even more a "must".

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Feb. 9—(AP)—Speaking of baseball, as a lot of folks have been lately, Lieut. (JG) James L. Bates of Winston-Salem, N. C., tells this story of American boys' fondness for the game... about a year ago six American merchant ships went to Murnansk on a "four month" trip that was stretched to eight months when convoys to the north Russian port were temporarily discontinued... To pass the time they formed the "White Sea Baseball League" with six teams of navy armed guard gunners and merchant seamen... The gunners fashioned bats out of timber found on the docks, made baseballs of cores from old rubber boots, yarn from old socks and sweaters and covers from discarded shoes and used hot shellmen's asbestos gloves for mitts... They even played night games by the light of the midnight sun... Wonder what those guys think about the rigors of northern training?

Chapter 8
"THEY'LL have you all right," laughed Kay. "And in a couple of weeks you'll find yourself shoving planes together as if you were to the manner born."

She gave one of her quick easy laughs. "And I wouldn't wonder you'd like it. Let's get to it now."

She and Kay unpacked her bags, Kay giving muffled shrieks of joy over every outfit.

"Is that a nifty? And this green number! Baby what I wouldn't give for an evening with this one!"

She chose a smart but quiet dark suit for Julie's interview and hurried out to the kitchen to press it. Julie, meanwhile, took a shower and a rest.

She woke from a short doze to the savory odor from the kitchen. Kay was ladling a colorful stew from its kettle.

"Roast beef third day removed," she sang out, "thanks to our butcher! Pull up a chair to the feast!"

Julie found she was hungry. The gay pottery on the cream kitchenette table made an appetizing background for the steaming stew, the crisp green salad, fruit and milk.

Kay whipped the dishes through hot cups afterwards with a speed that bewildered Julie, who made awkward attempts to dry them as quickly. Kay laughed good naturedly.

"It's easy to see you didn't grow up in a Minnesota family with eight kids," she laughed, as she led the way into the bedroom to dress.

SHE looked at Julie with open admiration when Julie had slipped on the freshly-pressed dark suit with a soft silk blouse and diamond clip. A sea-green soft purse struck the piquant note.

"You sure know how to wear them too," sighed Kay.

But now it was Julie's turn to stare. "You—you aren't going like that?"

Kay's angular figure was in blue denim overalls and shirt. She came over beside Julie at the mirror to tie on her red bandana. "This is it," she grinned.

FLIGHT from LOVE

by JOHN C. FLEMING and LOIS EBY

Chapter 8
"Latest sportswear—1944. Cute, what?"

At eight-thirty they were standing on the moonlit street corner waiting for a bus.

"Lucky there's some interviewers on the swing shift," Kay said.

"How long have you been doing this?" Julie asked.

"A year in May," Kay said cheerfully. "Was putting myself through teacher's college at UCLA, but decided the Japs and Nazis needed teaching more than the kids just now. So I'm tending to them first."

She dropped Julie off at the flat, square building that housed the Personnel office of Empire.

Julie felt a pang of fright as she looked at the streams of people. "What do I do?" she whispered.

"They'll tell you, don't worry," grinned Kay.

They did. From the instant Julie stepped inside the crowded office, she found herself expertly manipulated. Set to filling out endless pages that included a score of spaces for "previous business experience." Waiting in line for her interview. Following a brisk moving girl into an anteroom to sit across the desk from a keen-eyed older woman.

IN a few questions, the woman seemed to draw out the whole of Julie's previous life. Queer, Julie thought as she answered obediently, how her life, so packed with incident, could sound so empty to a business world. School—major in English and speech—travel in the summer—at home again—Junior League—Red Cross.

"Have you any preference as to kind of work?" the woman was asking.

Julie shook her head.

"Fine. Think you could handle a rivet gun?"

"I don't know," Julie murmured anxiously.

The woman was slipping her application blanks into a folder. "You'll have expert instruction right in the factory," she said. "Please report to Station 5."

The night wore on. Sleeplessness swept over Julie in waves as she moved dazedly from one station to another, forced to ask the flood of applicants around her for directions. She had her fingerprints taken at one place, her photograph at another. Then began her physical. Everywhere she had to wait in lines—lines—lines.

At four o'clock, more dead than alive, she had a cup of coffee and a doughnut at a coffee stand across the street. And at seven thirty she met Kay on the corner.

"How'd you like it?" Kay grinned, as they shoved onto a crowded bus.

"How'd you like night-mares?" said Julie unsteadily. She had only one conviction. She would never come back to this huge, terrifying confusion. She couldn't. There had to be some other way.

But she did. The next day the California sun was bright and her excruciating exhaustion had gone. Kay whisked her down to Studio Village to buy denim overalls, several blue shirts, a couple of bandanas. And that night she spent again in a series of lines, examinations, filling out more papers. By the third night when she was taken into one of the enormous hangar-like factory workrooms, she had become a strange automaton, moving to orders, feeling nothing.

AT first she was conscious only of a roaring din of confusion in the eerily-lit blue of the factory. She thought with a kind of frozen horror, "I couldn't work here—I couldn't even stay here!"

But she was being turned over to a "lead girl," whose sharp eyes belied her warm smile. She was walking with her down aisles between whirling, pounding, crashing machines vaguely hearing of "lathe... drill presses... hand drills... welding... tool crib... your team mate."

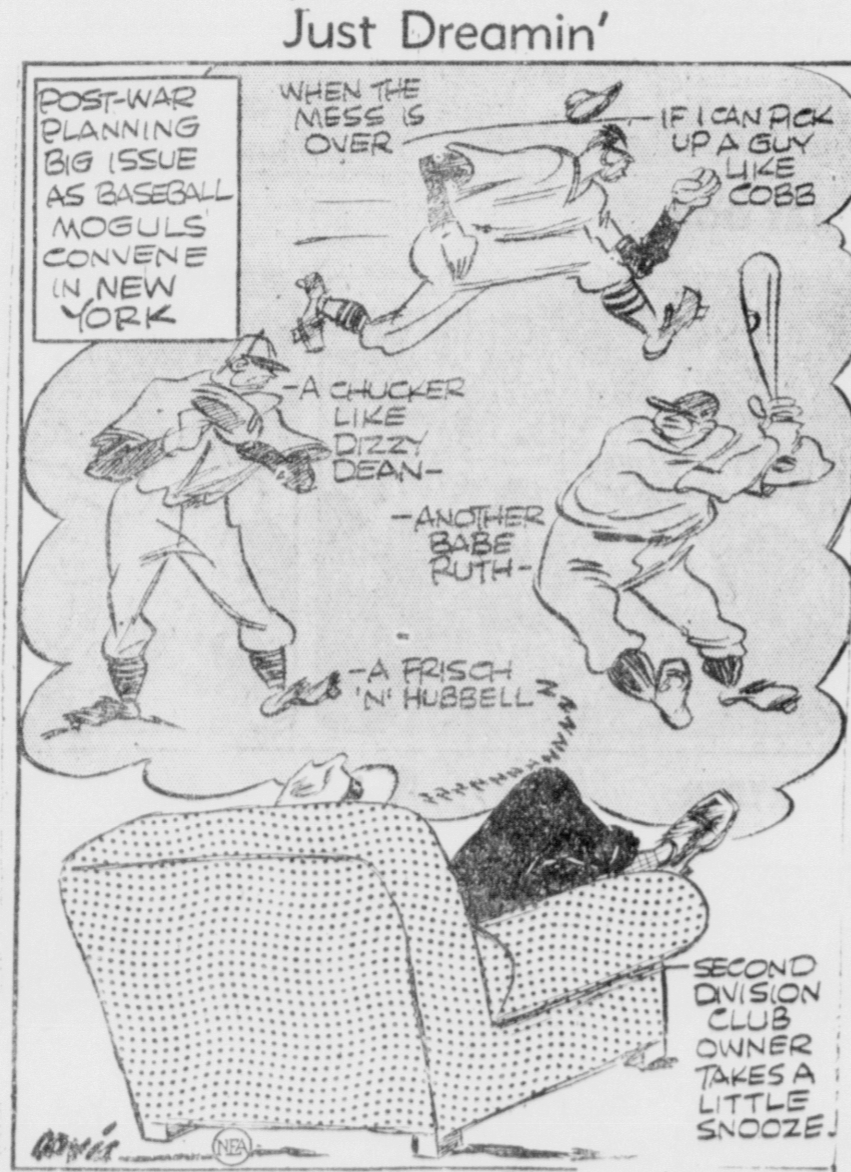

She was standing at last before an intricate scaffolding. Another girl in overalls and bandana was putting a strange, long object slightly resembling a fire extinguisher into her hands. "Your rivet gun. Here's your bucket of rivets. Hold your rivet gun like this... no your left hand here... and don't kick over your bucket of rivets!"

THE WARREN TIMES-MIRROR Asks Your Cooperation in Compiling Record

Feeling certain that there are many young men and women from this section who are still not listed on any local service roster, this paper asks all its reader-families to properly fill out and return to The Service Column Editor, Times Publishing Company, Warren, Pa., the coupon printed below. In this manner it is hoped to compile a complete record that will be available in this office to service groups or individuals desiring such information. Even if this information has been filed elsewhere at some previous request, please send your cooperation to the complete, new record which this paper hopes to build up.

Becomes Very Offensive

The Navy's big 35-ton PB2Y flying boats, like that pictured above, assumed a new and vital role in Southwest Pacific combat operations when they recently flew some 2600 miles from an unspecified American base to bomb Japs on Wake Island. It was the first offensive mission for the big flying boats, hitherto used for off-shore patrol and transport.

Is a Sales Tax Democratic?

As debated by

Hon. Will M. Whittington
Congressman, 3rd District,
Mississippi

Boris Shishkin
Economist, American Federation of Labor

CONG. WHITTINGTON OPENS: One of the fundamental principles in a democracy is equality and uniformity. The sales tax, like the ad valorem tax, meets the test. All classes are treated alike. The modest home, the state's mansion in ad valorem taxes, pay the same rate but upon different valuations. Taxes primarily are for revenue. In war they should reduce spending and prevent inflation. All citizens receiving income should contribute to revenues in war. Those in the lower income groups, especially in war, desire to support the government and thus to provide munitions for their sons in the armed forces. All patriotic citizens are willing to pay taxes to preserve America for Americans. All taxes, in effect, increase the cost of living. This is but another way of saying that all taxes increase the cost of any business, industry, or vocation. Contributions to charity increase the cost of living. The Bible teaches tithes for all whether rich or poor. If the argument against the sales tax, by whatever name it may be called, obtains, there would really be no tithes or donation. Another argument against the sales tax is that it discourages spending. In war, that argument no longer obtains.

MR. SHISHKIN OPENS: The American people in democracy have agreed taxes should fall in proportion to ability to pay. A sales tax does just the opposite. It barely touches the income of the well-to-do, but cuts across the entire small income. Income tax is progressive. Sales tax is regressive. Unlike the income tax, for which collection machinery is functioning, a new sales tax would be the most expensive to administer; would breed more bureaucracy; would require an enormous staff and a huge supply of equipment essential for war. A sales tax is a nuisance tax—a heavy burden to the already harried retail trade. It would call for monthly reports and audits of storekeepers' books and records and a heavy load of additional paper work on the part of every store covered. A general sales tax is now in effect in nearly half the states and two cities. A federal sales tax on top of these would mean double taxation, in itself undemocratic. The sales tax is undemocratic, regressive, costly and detrimental to our war effort. Even if placed on all commodities except food and medicine, it would barely yield 800 million dollars, or less than one per cent of our expenditures for war. Above all, it hits the poor to enable the war profiteer to escape his just share of taxation.

MR. SHISHKIN CHALLENGES: The Bible does not teach tithes; it describes the then existing oppressive system. But who ever preaches the unjust taxes levied by Belshazzar and Herod to be democratic, forgets democracy and forgets the handwriting on the wall that spelled end of tyranny. The good congressman contradicts himself, not me. For he says in one breath that the sales tax increases the cost of living and that it curbs inflation. A 10% general sales tax means a 10% increase in all prices. It is the most inflationary tax of all—indeed a deadly enemy of a democracy at war.

CONG. WHITTINGTON REPLIES: The reply of Mr. Shishkin is typical of the opponents of the sales tax. He confuses the Lord with tyrannical Herod and drunken Belshazzar. Tithes were for the Lord. The Old Testament enjoined them. Unjust and unreasonable taxes without representation, no matter the kind, were for Herod and Belshazzar. The Saviour, the greatest of all democrats and humanitarians, went further than tithes; he said that tithes were not enough. He commended the widow for giving her last penny. Sales taxes like tithes and free will offerings are applicable to all taxpayers whether rich or poor. Such taxes will supplement, not repeal the income tax, and reduce the high cost of government.

MR. SHISHKIN REPLIES: High war wages are not widespread. Earnings in war plants are high because hours are long, work gruelling. As of a year ago, 41% of all consumers were in the low income bracket with average incomes of $16 a week, receiving only 14% of the nation's money income. These families cannot and should not assume the same tax burden as families with long purses if economic democracy is to prevail. All should share the financial burdens of war, but justice and democracy demand each share according to his means. If power to tax be power to destroy, the sales tax is the most destructive form of wartime taxation, undermining the very foundations of democracy.

MEET HERE THURSDAY
About 20 Republican representatives of the county committees of all counties in this Congressional district will meet at the Carver House tomorrow. At this meeting delegates to the National Convention will be chosen. The affair is being arranged by Warren County Chairman Jesse G. Smith. A luncheon will be served at noon.

VISITS SQUARE
The old question of why does a chicken cross the street was answered this afternoon when a bright red and green bantam departed from a parked truck in Times Square and paid the Times-Mirror a visit, presumably to get his name in the paper. Townsfolk in the vicinity joined in the owner's efforts to catch the wandering bird.

HERE FOR MEETING
Henry Wuesthoff, of Williamsport, who is a former Warren county agriculture extension worker and now executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Potato Growers Association, will be among speakers here tomorrow for the Warren County Potato Growers Association meeting.

AT CONVENTION
Ed Archibald, of Irvine, president of Warren County Township Supervisors, is in Pittsburgh for the two-day annual convention of the state association, which today reaffirmed its allegiance to the principle of home rule in local governmental affairs, re-elected officers and selected Reading as the 1945 convention city. Among resolutions passed was that "opposing the taking over of any more township boards by the state highway department."

The man was booked as Walter Joseph Sullivan, alias Walter Kelly, 43.

Capt. Hawk said Captain J. H. Harwood of the Rhode Island state police had wired "we want him for murder," adding that state police would be sent for the prisoner tomorrow.

Capt. Hawk said Sullivan told him in the presence of a Federal Bureau of Investigation agent that:

On the day before Easter, 1930, Sullivan at the behest of "Joe Martin" went with Martin to the Rhode Island State Penitentiary near Providence intending to free "Pretty" O'Neil, a prisoner.

When a guard and a trusty opened the prison gates Sullivan shot both of them.

Sullivan told police, Hawk said, that he had been a wanderer since the Providence slaying and that his companion in the attempted prison delivery had, meantime, been "taken for a ride" and slain.

BULLETINS

Washington, Feb. 9.—(P)—The senate post-war economic policy and planning committee today recommended the immediate creation of an office of demobilization to set up machinery for getting "the American system of free enterprise" on a full employment basis for peace.

Washington, Feb. 9.—(P)—Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the senate finance committee proposed today that senate and house committees work together on early simplification and streamlining of the income tax structure.

Moscow, Feb. 9.—(P)—The Soviet trade union magazine, "War and the Working Class," today characterized as Nazi-inspired any suggestions that the new powers recently granted the 16 Soviet republics in the field of foreign relations were designed to achieve territorial gains.

Washington, Feb. 9.—(P)—Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Tokyo, warned today against a "sugar-coated" compromise peace offer from Japan and declared our victory in the Pacific "must be complete and irrevocable."

Harrisburg, Feb. 9.—(P)—Pennsylvania Selective Service headquarters today received orders from the army to increase sharply the number of men sent to induction stations for pre-induction physical examination during the last half of February and the month of March. Specific figures were withheld.

Harmony In Both Parties As State Primaries Draw Near

(From Page One)
Weeks of conferences by Democratic State Chairman David L. Lawrence and U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey—rival faction leaders after the break—with county leaders throughout the state preceded endorsement of the "united front" ticket headed by Congressman Francis J. Myers, of Philadelphia for the U. S. Senate.

The move to bring Davis and the Republican organization together, after a 14-year estrangement developed last week after many conferences of organization leaders failed to bring out a candidate to oppose him.

Even before the Davis split, which stemmed from his victory over Joseph R. Grundy, Bristol manufacturer, for the senate in 1930, the Republican organization encountered factional troubles with Gifford Pinchot, whom the late Boies Penrose once called the "haunt" of the Republican party.

In announcing his support of Davis, Martin declared "I am for Senator Davis for re-election because we need in congress men who are imbued with sound American ideals and who believe in the American way of life. I feel he should be a candidate for re-election and I hope he will be. I will support him and will ask all my friends to do so."

Taylor said he "wholeheartedly joined with Governor Martin in endorsing" Davis and pledged "my every effort to bring about his nomination and election if he is a candidate."

In Washington, Davis declared organization support "will save a lot of time and money, and there are so many problems facing the senate this year that it would be exceedingly difficult for me to get around the state for a primary contest."

Davis said the first thought of Republicans in the state and of himself was that "we must bend every effort to win this war to build a sound and lasting peace among the nations of the world x x x to create a postwar world which will provide employment and economic opportunities for all of our citizens x x x. To this program I wholeheartedly subscribe, and I will devote my sincere efforts to its complete accomplishment."

Men Handling Jury List Get Goodly Sums

Members of the Traverse and Grand Juries for the March term of Quarter Sessions Court were printed Monday. This is the first jury drawn for the current year by Jury Commissioners Albert Walters and John King. Reports from the office of the County Commissioners are that it is not expected that the cost of handling the juries this year will not be as great as it was last year.

Last year the Jury Commissioner's bill amounted to a large sum. Filling of the jury wheel with the 600 names at the beginning of the year cost $625. The names are supposed to be 6.20th of the voters in the county and are supposed to represent each voting precinct of the county. The names are also entered in a book so that a complete record is kept.

In 1943 Mr. King as Jury Commissioner drew the sum of $325.20 for the filling of the jury wheel and $45.12 for the drawing of the six juries—four for quarter sessions and two for Civil Court. Each of the juries drawn contained the names of 52 persons. Mr. Lindstrom, the other jury commissioner, drew the sum of $306 for filling the wheel and $30 for the drawing of the six juries. Donald Schuler, clerk of the commissioners was paid a salary of $75 for his duties as clerk to the jury commissioners. The sheriff drew no extra compensation for his work in filling the wheel or in drawing the juries. The total cost of the jury commissioners and their clerk was $775.32.

The office has always been one of the minor offices of the county but it is interesting to note that the jury commissioners drew more than the county auditors who labor long weeks in the compilation of the annual auditors report for the county affairs.

Boys In Age Group From 17 To 18 Needed In Air Forces

Boys in the age group from 17 to 18 are still urgently needed for the Army Air Forces and the need will not diminish until the cessation of hostilities. It takes about 14 months to train an air crew and about 6 months of active duty to make the air crew replacements necessary. For this reason alone it is clearly apparent that there will be constant training of replacements.

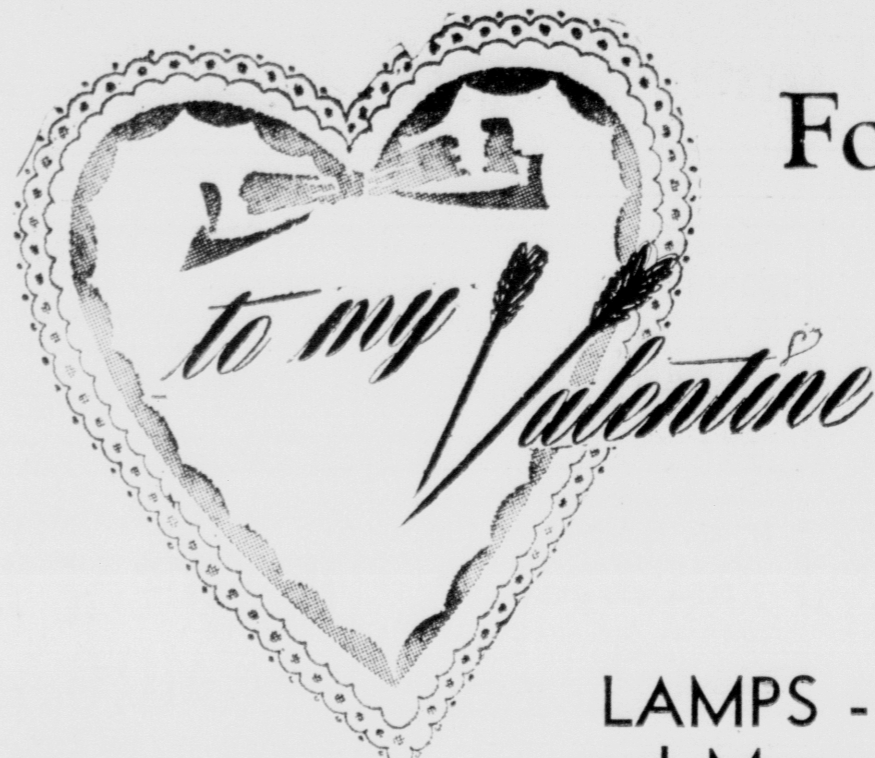

Boys who have reached their 17th birthday will probably be drafted on their 18th birthday and they should right now be making plans. If they do nothing they will be required to register with the Selective Service Local Board on their 18th birthday and will be called for physical on the first call after they have filled their questionnaire. If they pass the physical, they will be sent to a reception center in three weeks, inducted into the armed services, and placed where needed, regardless of their wishes in the matter. Their pay will be at the rate of $50.00 per month and they will perform their duties whether the branch of service is the one they prefer or not.

Boys of 17 who realize that they will inevitably be inducted into the armed services and who want to make the most of their future will start now to see what service offers and prepare to make the most of their opportunities. Boys of 17, who can pass the mental tests and the physical examination may, with their parent's consent, enlist in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve of the Army Air Forces and, after enlistment, permits them to remain at home until they become 18. If they are still in school when they reach 18 the Army Air Forces will give them additional time up to 6 months after their 18th birthday to finish school. After that time they will receive orders to report to a designated Reception Center where they will be outfitted and sent to basic training camp for 8 weeks basic training.

When they are finally released for active assignments, these young men will not be hampered or endangered by incomplete training or faulty equipment. They will become a part of the most precise fighting force in the world and their chances of survival will be great. They will receive the finest aeronautical education ever offered and they will be in shape after the war to take positions as skilled specialists in the aeronautical age which is almost upon us.

The program offered these young men is the finest program that we know and parents as well as the boys should inquire into it.

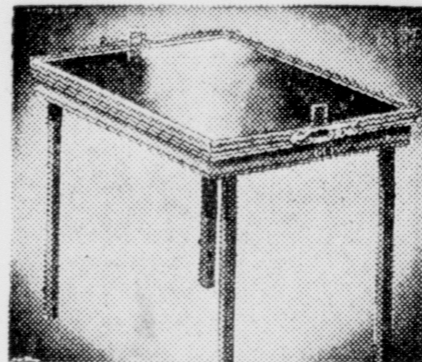

Civil Air Patrol, an auxiliary of the Army Air Forces maintains an office in the Warren National Bank Building in Room 510, which is open every Tuesday evening be-
